Project Overview

Safe packaging and transport of over 5000 individual hazardous goods items.

McMahon Services were contracted by Toll Transitions to relocate hazardous goods from the SA Water Testing Laboratories at Bolivar to the new head office location in Victoria Square, Adelaide.

The project involved the manifesting, packaging and careful transport of hazardous materials from 20 individual laboratories and stores. All hazardous materials were transported to new laboratories located within the new SA Water building.

The works were completed over a two month period with the safe packaging and transport of over 5000 individual hazardous goods items. Toll Transitions and SA Water were both extremely pleased with the way McMahon Services carried out the project. Due to the considerable planning and stringent supervision of Project Manager Phil Colton, all aspects of the project ran smoothly with zero incidents.
